The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) is a universal leader in the mission to promote and ensure the safety of human rights worldwide.

A. Preserving Human Rights of Uyghur Turks

The Chinese Government is committing a series of ongoing human rights ill-treatment against Uyghurs and other ethnic and religious minorities in Xinjiang that is often characterized as persecution or genocide. Beginning in 2014, the Chinese government, under the administration of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP), General Xi Jinping incarcerated more than an estimated one million Turkic Muslims without any legal system internment camps. Xinjiang CCP Secretary Chen Quanguo led operations from 2016 to 2021. It is the largest-scale detention of ethnic and religious minorities since The most violent war in human history, World War 2. China has created a large system of arbitrary detention and enforced disappearance. These are some of the most exerted camps of all time.

Uyghurs are a Turkic ethnic group native to Xinjiang. They are distinct from the Han Chinese, the predominant ethnic group in China. Uyghurs are the second-largest predominantly Muslim ethnicity in China, after the Hui and Sunni Islam is an important aspect of Uyghur identity. The Uyghur language has around 10 million speakers and is shared with other minority groups in the region. Due to their beliefs, philosophies of life, and race, Chinese people are subjected to discrimination. The Chinese government not only supports the atrocities committed by the people but also provides them with guidance. The Chinese government denies having committed human rights abuses in Xinjiang. In an assessment by the UN Human Rights Office, the United Nations (UN) stated that China's policies and actions in the Xinjiang region may be crimes against humanity, although it did not use the term genocide. In addition to the arbitrary detention of Uyghurs in state-sponsored camps, government policies have included forced labor, suppression of Uyghur religious practices, political indoctrination, forced sterilization, forced contraception, and forced abortion.

Following a meeting with Xi in Beijing, Chen Quanguo held a rally in Ürümqi with ten thousand troops, helicopters, and armored vehicles. As they paraded he announced a "smashing, obliterating offensive," and declared that they would "bury the corpses of terrorists and terror gangs in the vast sea of the People's War." He ordered them to "Round up everyone who should be rounded up," and by April 2017 mass arrests had begun

As The Republic of South Africa, we hardly condemn the Chinese Government, and we suggest that NGOs (Non-Governmental Organizations) with the UN policy, should impose an embargo on China. At this conference, we believe we can achieve our aims at this conference on that occasion. We are prepared to make all sacrifices to bring all our support to meet with the Uyghur Turks. Our people and government will maintain their definitive and humanitarian stance against such events, regardless of the circumstances. Arbitrary detention is a crime against humanity and constitutes an affront to humanism. We have full confidence in the UNHRC and the UN regarding this matter, and we will participate in conferences for a more humanitarian, just, and better world
