

POSITION PAPER

Committee: SPECPOL

Country: Russian Federation

Agenda Item: The Somalia Conflict: Implications for peacemaking and peacekeeping efforts

Russian Federation is one of the most related countries to Somalia in military, policy and economy. We have enlarged our bilateral relationships with Somalia in a helping way while being aware of all the problems and conflicts in the region that are highly growing. The civil war is still existing however, some attempts failed such as UNOSOM I and UNOSOM II that aimed rescue Somalia from its terrible situation. The main reasons were lack of communication and authority limitation therefore we should keep these in our minds while proposing and creating new solutions.

Throughout Somalia's history, a lots of complicated incidents happened that made country more problematical. Even after declaration of its independence, countless terrorism organizations broke out, a lots of election were rigged and the entire country turned out to a ruin. After 2009 Islamical terrorist organizations cooperated with eachother to win against the current government but with the aids and helps of different powers, it prevented. However, country still has lack of infrastructure, clean water and sanitation system and many other main necessities of a country. It is not even easy to handle this conflict because of its worst corrupt structure in the world. Solution should be sustainable and suitable undoubtedly.

Russian Federation wants to establish new program called Somalia Comprehensive Development Program (SCDP) which is including the topics of reconsidering policies of Somalia, support in irrigation, clean water, constraction of new ports, modern agriculture and its educations. Also Somalia will be supported by humanitarian aids and social services spesificly on child education and health. Russia is aware of that Somalia should be unified by its each individual in the country and unmanned missioners should be sent to convince locals. By improving its ports, a lots of job facilities will occur therefore it is a topic which should be focused on. Lastly it is flagrant that what we will do shall be flawless.
