Agenda: Ensuring Access to Education for Refugee Children

Country: Canada

Honorable chairs and fellow delegates

As the delegate of Canada education of refugee children is a major global problem because it directly affects their future lives.

First of all our opinion is that education is not a privilege but a fundamental right. Every child has the right to a safe, inclusive, and quality education.

We support the development of schools and teacher training for refugee children, as well as the operation of educational organizations such as Education Cannot Wait. ECW is a global fund established to provide educational support for children affected by wars, natural disasters, and other humanitarian crises. We're among the strongest supporters of ECW, contributing millions of dollars to help maintain access to education in crisis-affected regions. Canada also partners with UNICEF and UNHCR to ensure refugee children have access to learning materials and safe educational environments.

In conclusion we have detailed future plans for the education and social integration of refugee children. Our primary goal in the country is to ensure that children receive a quality education, integrate into society, and become independent individuals in the long term.

Thank you for your kind attention, the floor is yielded.
