

Position Paper – Slovenia

Committee: [Disarmament and International Security Committee]

Topic: China's Military Development

Country: Slovenia

Introduction:

China is developing very fast, and its military is growing quickly. This is important because big armies and nuclear weapons can affect world peace. Slovenia respects China's development but is worried about the dangers of military growth.

Country's Position:

Slovenia believes that military power must be used for peace, not for war or threats. China has around six hundred nuclear weapons and a very big army. These numbers may grow in the future. Slovenia wants China to be open and responsible about its military activities.

Past Actions:

Slovenia supports United Nations resolutions on nuclear control and disarmament. We also work with other countries to promote peace, dialogue, and cooperation.

Proposed Solutions:

1. China should share information about its military plans with the United Nations to build trust.
2. Countries should make new agreements to limit nuclear weapons and avoid arms races.
3. Slovenia encourages international cooperation in trade, technology, and energy instead of military competition.

Slovenia believes that with transparency, dialogue, and cooperation, China's military growth can help peace instead of creating fear.
