Committee: WHO

Topic: Vaccination and Corona Virus Rates

As the delegation of France, we are concerned about the increase in the number of Corona Virus cases. Although WHO has made supportive statements about the vaccine all over the world, It is a fact that this issue still remains to be in discussion in France. Some extremist opposition fractions ignorantly insists that vaccines pose deadly harm to human health. However, on the other hand, many respected and reliable universities and health institutions have published publications on why it is so important to get vaccinated to get rid of the Covid 19 pandemic situation.

Currently, 77 percent of the population in France is vaccinated. And fortunately, this rate continues to rise, but it does not solve all the problems.

Another major issue we're worried about Covid 19 is its variants. Fortunately, we know that current vaccines can still provide protection from these variants. But no one can guarantee that the vaccine will win the next battle against a new type of variant virus. It is not fictional that the world could suffer from its deadly consequences.

As the French delegation, we strongly support vaccination not only for France but for the whole world. We believe this is such a problem that the Earth must unite and act as one powerful body. Because we know that even if we increase the vaccine in a country, this will not be enough and sufficient for complete relief. Because new variants will continue to come and will continue to threaten the whole world in terms of pandemic. We believe that as a solution to these problems, a financing fund should be established urgently for countries that are underdeveloped in terms of vaccines.
