

Committee: United Nations Environmental Programme (UNEP)

Topic: Global Warming

Country: Morocco

Delegation: Cemre Nurten Kesimal, TED Trabzon College

Global Warming is a huge global problem for the whole world. Mostly, it derived from people fault. All people in the world have to say stop for this so we have to do something. There's been an increasing temperature problem lately, especially since the beginning of this century, actually, the temperature is 1 degree now, and if happens at 1.5 degrees, it is going to be a huge problem for the whole world. Also, the air we get, however, is polluted, and the countries are going to change climates slowly. People don't react to any of this, they continue to use harmful fuels and pollute the environment. And there are many problems about of this in our country Morocco too. These are climate change, sea level rise and more.

As pointed, there are many problems in Morocco about the global warming. Actually, at Morocco's northeast shores, sea level rises. There is an association for global warming in Morocco called, "Environmental Journalists Association". The establishment of this association has been beneficial for the country to address all environmental problems in Morocco. Morocco is always trying to bring up these environmental problems global warming. On media, they're trying to get over this. Some researchers say that the spread of clean energy use, the cleanliness of drinking water, the prevention of wildfires, water and energy savings and many activities that contribute to nature must be carried out.

To stop increasing level of global warming in Morocco, we can take some new step as follows: we can develop and spread automobiles operating in the country, especially in the centers, with solar energy or other renewable energy sources, or the house can become hot and forced by solar energy. At the same time, meetings can be held to inform and warn people about the fundraising campaigns necessary to protect society or people about global warming, and those meetings can be attended by authorized people. To stop global warming money earned in the donation campaign can also be used to protect the environment and to make healthy projects for the environment.