Letter from Under Secretary General

Highly Esteemed Delegates,

My name is Burak Yağız Güllü, I am a junior student in Ankara Yükselen College.

I am going to be serving as the Under Secretary-General of the JCC (Joint Crisis Committee) Star Trek:

Federations vs Klingons Committee.

I know that each of us is connected to and knows more or less about the Star Trek universe. Throughout this study guide, I have tried to tell you everything from the history of the klingon and the federation to the deadlines. Our date will be 2364, but I want you to remember something. The Federation and the Klingons were on very tight ropes in those years. I didn't give excessive details about weapons and similar ships, but you will be able to get information as a result of future updates throughout the committee and of course the directives you wrote.

I assure you that we will have so much fun and an unforgettable experience together. Please read all of the study guide. I also highly recommend you to read the wikis about your side at the end of the study guide, they include EXCLUSIVE AMOUNT OF information about your side and your allies. For your further questions and inquiries please do not hesitate to contact me via gulluburakyagiz@gmail.com

Regards,

Burak Yağız Güllü

Under Secretary-General of the JCC (Joint Crisis Committee) Star Trek: Federations vs Klingons Committee.

The Terms

- Zefram Cochrane

Doctor Zefram Cochrane was a Human scientist in the 21st century and a pivotal figure in Human history. An eccentric genius, he was the inventor of warp drive on Earth and became the first recorded Human to travel faster than light, prompting official first contact with the Vulcans.

- United Earth

United Earth, also known as the World Government, was a planetary state created through the unification of Earth in the 22nd century, following First Contact with Vulcans in 2063. United

Earth continued to exist as a member world of the United Federation of Planets when Earth helped found that interstellar state in 2161. However, after the Burn in the 31st century, United Earth seceded from the Federation

- Augment Crisis

The Augment Crisis was the name given to a series of events in May 2154 when war nearly broke out between United Earth and the Klingon Empire because of interference by the Augments.

- Neutral Zone

A neutral zone was a volume of space not claimed by any political power. Often, these volumes were created as buffer zones and borders between spacefaring civilizations. In this sense, a neutral zone was somewhat similar to the Demilitarized Zone that existed between the Cardassian Union and the United Federation of Planets.

- Earth-Romulan War

The Earth-Romulan War, also known as the Romulan War(s), was a major interstellar conflict fought from 2156 to 2160 between the forces of United Earth and those of the Romulan Star Empire. Its conclusion, which was marked by an Earth/Andorian/Vulcan/Tellarite alliance decisively defeating the Romulans at the Battle of Cheron, led to the establishment of the Romulan Neutral Zone and immediately preceded the incorporation of the United Federation of Planets.

- Sheliak Corporate

The Sheliak Corporate (or simply the Corporate for short) was the governing body of the Sheliak. The capital of the Corporate was the Sheliak homeworld, in the Shelia system. While the Federation struggled to find a common point of reference with the Sheliak, they had managed to smooth relations through a massive treaty, the Treaty of Armens, which ceded certain planets to the Corporate. Over a century later, a dispute broke out between the Federation and the Sheliak over Federation colonists on Tau Cygna V, a planet in the Sheliak sphere of influence. Lieutenant Commander Data played the lead role in trying to convince the colonists to evacuate the planet before Sheliak colonists arrived. Captain JeanLuc Picard used the third-party arbitration clause in the Treaty of Armens to resolve the conflict. The Sheliak agreed to wait three weeks for the colonists' evacuation.

- The Polaric Test Ban Treaty

The Polaric Test Ban Treaty was signed in 2268, which banned research into polaric ion energy.

- Polaric Ion Energy

Polaric ion energy was a highly volatile form of energy based on polaric ion particles. Although polaric ions were capable of generating power on a large scale, polaric ion devices were prone to subspace chain reactions. Such a reaction had the potential of devastating an entire planet, vaporizing all life within a matter of seconds. Polaric ion explosions left behind high levels of polaric radiation, as well as subspace fractures persisting for hours after the event.

- Khitomer Accords

The Khitomer Accords consisted of two historic peace treaties between the Klingon Empire and the United Federation of Planets and were the first step in reconciliation between the two powers. The First Khitomer Accords were signed at the Khitomer Conference in 2293 on the Klingon planet Khitomer. The Second Khitomer Accords banned the use of subspace weapons. The Son'a openly flouted this accord in 2375.

Sector 31

Section 31 was an organization which claimed to protect the security interests of United Earth and, later, the United Federation of Planets. During the mid-23rd century, they were considered a critical division of Starfleet Intelligence, while by the 24th century, they were believed to be a rogue organization not considered part of the Federation.

- Delphic Expanse

The Delphic Expanse was a region of space approximately fifty light years away from Earth. According to the Triannons, a native species which regarded the Expanse as the "Chosen Realm," an area that had been created by supernatural beings they referred to as "the Makers," in preparation for their eventual return.

- Battle of Klach D'kel Brakt

The Battle of Klach D'kel Brakt was a decisive battle fought between the Klingon and Romulan Empires in 2271 at Klach D'kel Brakt. The Klingon forces, led by Kor, achieved a memorable victory. The battle included hand-to-hand combat using melee weapons. Nearly a century later, Kor re-enacted the battle on Deep Space 9's holosuites. Quark complained to Odo that Kor only paid for one hour, but had been in there for three "fighting the Battle of Klachdachbrach or some such thing over and over." Odo removed Kor, who was quite drunk with Breshtanti ale, and had him sent to a holding cell to sleep it off.

- Genesis Device

The Genesis Device was a sophisticated technological innovation designed to alleviate sociological problems such as overpopulation and limited food supplies. Its development was completed by a team of scientists led by Carol Marcus and her son, David Marcus, in 2285 on the Spacelab Regula I in the Mutara sector

Kor, Kang, and Koloth

Dahar Master Kor, son of Rynar, was a male Klingon military officer and ambassador in the 23rd and 24th centuries. He was among the most influential warriors and respected military leaders of the Klingon Empire. In the United Federation of Planets, he was known chiefly as being partly responsible for the institution of the Treaty of Organia that ended war with the UFP, and for being an adversary of Starfleet Captain James T. Kirk and Chancellor Gowron and a friend of Kang, Koloth, Curzon, and later Jadzia Dax, as well as Worf, son of Mogh.

Koloth was among the most legendary warriors, heroic military leaders and adept negotiators in the Klingon Empire during the late 23rd and early 24th centuries. He was known in the United Federation of Planets chiefly for his encounters with Captain James T. Kirk and Curzon Dax, and for his long friendship with fellow Klingon officers Kor and Kang.

Kang was among the most influential leaders and feared diplomats in the Klingon Empire during the late 23rd and early 24th centuries. He is known in Federation history for his long friendships with Kor, Koloth, and Curzon Dax, and as an adversary of Starfleet Captain James T. Kirk.

The Federation

a. General Information

The United Federation of Planets (abbreviated as UFP and generally known as the Federation) became a supranational interstellar union of a couple of planetary nation-states that operated semi-autonomously below a single central government, based at the ideas of liberty, equality, peace, justice, and progress, with the purpose of furthering the universal rights of all sentient life. Federation individuals trade information and resources to facilitate non violent cooperation, scientific development, space exploration, and mutual defense.

b. History

The Federation was based in San Francisco, Earth in 2161. The seeds of the Federation were planted throughout the Babel Crisis of 2154, during that a short lived alliance was formed to go looking for a Romulan drone ship preying on local vessels. It absolutely was this that first brought along the species that founded the Federation: Humans, Vulcans, Andorians, and Tellarites. Someday around January 2155, these four species likewise as others, together with the Denobulans, the Rigelians, and also the Coridanites, began talks to form what was later thought-about an instantaneous precursor to the Federation: the Coalition of Planets. The Earth-Romulan War, that stone-broke get into 2156 associate degree was won by an alliance of forces from Earth, Andoria, Vulcan, and Tellar in 2160, in real time preceded the inspiration of the Federation, which transpire the subsequent year between dignitaries of those four planets.

Although the Federation' intentions were peaceful, around it were other, more belligerent powers like the Klingon and Romulan Empires. because it enlarged through the admittance of more and more worlds, it came into conflict with these powers. in the twenty third century, its main enemy was the Klingon Empire, with a war happening in 2256-2257, and another in brief erupting between the 2 in 2267, before being halted by the Organians. However, tensions relieved significantly towards the tip of the century, with the Khitomer Conference of 2293 being a considerable turning point. This conference saw the sign language of the Khitomer Accords, that effectively terminated hostile relations.

At the beginning of the twenty fourth century, the Federation began an Associate in Nursing new period of peaceful exploration of the galaxy, freed from major conflicts, as its main opponent of the previous century, the Klingon Empire, had recently departed with it. However, relations with the Romulans remained hostile, albeit at a low, "cold war" level. Throughout the 24th century, there have been a series of conflicts because the Federation came into contact with alternative races, including the Cardassians, the Talarians, the Tholians, and also the Tzenkethi. Then, however, the period of peaceful exploration came to an abrupt end.

Timeline

- 2063: Zefram Cochrane conducts Humanity's first warp flight, leading to the first official contact between Humans and Vulcans.
- 2150: Earth's last holdouts agree to join United Earth after war, crime, poverty and the causes thereof have been eliminated earlier this century.
- 2151: United Earth makes first contact with Klingons and Andorians.
- 2154: Soon after the Augment Crisis opens a diplomatic rift between the Klingon Empire as well as United Earth/the later Federation, contacts between both sides will remain scarce until the mid-23rd century.
- 2155: The formation of a Coalition of Planets is discussed among representatives from Earth, Vulcan, Andoria, and Tellar, amongst others.
- 2156-2160: In the Earth-Romulan War, Earth, Vulcan, Andoria, and Tellar defeat the Romulan Star Empire leading to the creation of a Neutral Zone between the two power blocs.
- 2161: The United Federation of Planets is founded in San Francisco by the allies of the Earth-Romulan War.
- 2184-2192: Jonathan Archer serves as Federation President.
- 2223: Relations between the Federation and the Klingon Empire degenerate starting a tense cold war.
- 2236: A time crystal is lost during a Klingon raid on a Starfleet research group on Doctari Alpha, temporarily halting Starfleet's clandestine research into time travel.
- 2245: The inconclusive Battle of Donatu V is fought between the Klingon Empire and the Federation.
- 2246: Due to a shortage in food supply, Governor Kodos of Tarsus IV orders the execution of 4,000 colonists, committing one of the worst crimes in Federation history.
- 2255: This is the last time the Sheliak Corporate contacts the Federation until 2366.
- 2256: An open war between the Federation and an internally riven Klingon Empire begins with the Battle of the Binary Stars.

- 2257: After losing a third of its ships and twenty percent of its territory, the Federation authorizes a commando mission against Qo'noS, which ultimately ends the war and stabilizes Klingon leadership.
- 2267: After another open, but very brief war, the Federation and the Klingon Empire sign the Treaty of Organia establishing ground rules for further interaction and the resolution of territorial disputes. The same year, the Federation, the Klingon Empire, and the Romulan Star Empire jointly establish a colony on Nimbus III, officially declaring it "the planet of galactic peace".
- 2268: The Polaric Test Ban Treaty is signed by the Federation and the Romulan Star Empire, banning research into polaric ion energy.
- 2270s: An attack on Earth by a massive machine lifeform called V'ger is closely averted.
- 2286: Another devastation of Earth is averted, when a reply to a probe of unknown origin can be given, whose attempts to contact Humpback whales severely affect Earth's atmosphere.
- 2289: The Federation and the Klingon Empire hold a diplomatic meeting at Korvat colony, however without producing any substantial results.
- 2293: At the Khitomer Conference between the Klingons and the Federation the Khitomer Accords are signed to establish a lasting peace between the two powers.
- 2311: After the devastating Tomed Incident with the Romulans, the Federation signs the Treaty of Algeron promising no research into or use of any cloaking devices

1100 Starfleets

- 300 of them were designed as supply and health ships and they are on duty at space stations instantly.
- There are 800 science ships. 300 of them are scattered around different points of space on active duty.

- Besides, as the most advanced ship, the Enterprise will take a week to arrive in an active science mission North of the Beta Quadrant, even at its fastest on duty.
- Science Ships have 10 light photon torpedoes prepared for self-protection. Besides these, there are enough phasers and smashing balls.

200 Heavy Warships

- 150 of them are stationed around Mars, the rest are withdrawn for maintenance.
- Each of the heavy ships has enough fusion bombs to destroy one heavily armored ship. Next to it are 20 light photon torpedoes, 4 heavy photon torpedoes, and rail beam guns designed to pierce ship shields. In addition to these, phasers and 20 smashing cannons.

55,500 Star Ships

- 15,000 of them are on duty on different science ships. None of them have heavy weapons, only phasers.
- 5000 pieces are used for the protection of the world and its environment. Their removal from the world environment was prohibited by the President of the Federation. However, it can be given to the command of the authorized admiral in line with the order from him.
- It is set up for the transport of fusion bombs and the evacuation of ship personnel on duty on its 1000 heavy ships.
- The remaining 29 thousand ships are allocated to the federation's high personnel. In an emergency, 28 thousand of them can be recalled with the authority of the high admiral's council.

There are 2000 starfleets scrapped because they are old. Of these, only 500 are operational and all are science ships.

All connection to Sector 31 has been lost for some reason. In order to re-establish the connection, the work was started in line with the permission of the Federation President. But the president also decided to keep that division's weapons and agents as the first force and intelligence division in case the president and the commissioned admiral were attacked by other races.

d. Bases

Aside from its headquarters, located on Earth, the Federation's capital world, Starfleet also maintained installations throughout Federation territory.

■ Star Bases

Starbases were facilities set aside for resupply of the service's vessels and the relaxation of vessel crews, and were maintained in all sectors of Federation space. In addition, the service also maintained facilities beyond Federation territory. The most well-known of these is Deep Space 9, in the Alpha Quadrant.

■ Shipyards

The service also maintained a number of shipyards at which it constructed its vessels and designed and tested new vessels and vessel types.

Among the most famous of these shipyards were:

- The Utopia Planitia Fleet Yards, located in orbit around Mars
- The San Francisco Fleet Yards, located in orbit around Earth
- The Beta Antares Ship Yards, located in the Antares sector

■ Training facilities

Apart from Starfleet Academy, the service also maintained several training facilities for both officers and enlisted personnel. These included a number of Academy annexes, located in different systems. Known annexes were Starfleet Academy (Beta Aquilae II), Starfleet Academy (Beta Ursae Minor II), and Starfleet Academy (Psi Upsilon III). The service also maintained at least one testing facility to evaluate prospective Starfleet Academy undergraduates for admission into the academy. This facility was located on the planet Relva VII.

Starfleet Academy also had a training program for enlisted personnel. In addition, at least one other such facility was located on Mars, known as the Starfleet Technical Services Academy.

Klingon Empire

a. General Information

The Klingon Empire was the official state of the Klingon people. It was based within the ninth century by Kahless the Unforgettable, who initially united the Klingon homeworld of Qo'noS. Since then, the Klingon Empire expanded its sphere of influence by capturing various systems and incorporating them. This created the Empire a significant power in its region of the galaxy as of the 22nd, 23rd, and 24th centuries.

b. History

The mytho-historical origin of the Klingon Empire revolves around Kahless the Unforgettable, who emerged as a champion of the humans within the ninth century AD and has become the primary Emperor. In the 14th century, the Empire confronted certainly considered one among its largest threats while a race from the Gamma Quadrant the Klingons referred to as Hur'q invaded Qo'noS. They looted many treasured cultural treasures, inclusive of the respected Sword of Kahless, however, then left again. In the mid-twenty-first century, the reign of the final Emperor ended and authority was handed to the Chancellor of the Klingon High Council.

Because of a Human-brought about clinical disaster and later territorial conflicts, United Earth and in the end, the United Federation of Planets has become the Empire's most important adversary within the twenty-second and twenty-third centuries, for the duration of which bloodless in addition to warm wars have been fought. While the Empire became in disarray as of the primary 1/2 of the twenty-third century, the war with the Federation helped to unify the disparate Klingon Houses and stabilized the guideline of thumb of the Chancellor.

Timeline

- 9th century: Time of Kahless – After slaying the tyrant Molor using the first bat'leth, Kahless the Unforgettable founded the First Empire, becoming its first emperor.

- 14th century: Hur'q invasion – A race from the Gamma Quadrant, which the Klingons call Hur'q, invades Qo'noS. When they leave, they steal valuable artifacts, including the Sword of Kahless. Also during that century "Klingon warriors set out and slew all of their gods, because they were more trouble than they were worth".
- At least several centuries before the 24th century: "The Dark Time" – Emperor Reclaw and the imperial family of the Second Dynasty are killed by General K'Trelan. For ten years, the Empire enters "The Dark Time" when it is ruled by a council elected by the people, until a Third Dynasty mimicking the Second is installed to rule the Empire.
- 2016: After the Klingons destroy a Vulcan starship, the latter react with a strict fire-first policy, which earns the Vulcans respect and eventually leads to formal diplomatic relations.
- Mid-21st century: The reign of the last Emperor ends and the lead of the Empire falls to the Chancellor of the Klingon High Council.
- 2133: After losing the crew of a starship, the Klingon High Council forbids all its ships from any attempt to enter the Delphic Expanse.
- 2151: First contact with Earth is initiated when Enterprise NX-01 assists Klaang at proving that the Cabal is trying to destabilize the Empire as part of the Temporal Cold War.
- 2152 & 2153: Jonathan Archer of the Enterprise evades Klingon authorities three times after repeatedly "interfering" with the Empire's politics.
- 2154: Augment Crisis – Enhanced Humans try to annihilate Qu'Vat Colony, but ultimately fail in their attempt to ignite a war between the Empire and United Earth. The Empire then uses residue of the Human DNA to breed augmented warriors of its own, but inadvertently creates a virus causing generations of Klingons to lose their cranial ridges amongst others. Sometime hereafter, Klingon-Federation encounters became very rare up until 2256.
- 2223: Federation-Klingon Cold War – Relations between the Empire and the United Federation of Planets degenerate starting a tense cold war.
- 2236: A time crystal is lost during a Klingon raid on a Federation research group on Doctari Alpha, temporarily halting both side's competitive research into time travel.
- 2245: The inconclusive Battle of Donatu V is fought between the Klingon Empire and the Federation.
- 2256: Provoked by Klingon noble T'Kuvma to stop the infighting among his people, the Empire starts a fierce, open war against the Federation.
- 2257: The war ends with a peace accord in Paris. T'Kuvma's follower L'Rell becomes High Chancellor and proceeds to further unite the Klingon people.
- 2267: After engaging in another brief open conflict, the Klingon Empire and the Federation sign the Treaty of Organia establishing ground rules for further interaction and the resolution of territorial disputes, e.g. over Sherman's Planet. That same year, the Empire, the Federation, and the Romulan Star Empire jointly establish a colony on Nimbus III, officially declaring it 'the planet of galactic peace'.

- 2271: Empire forces under Kor achieve a memorable victory over the Romulans at the Battle of Klach D'kel Brakt .
- 2272: The Klingon Empire relinquishes its claims on Archanis IV to the Federation.
- 2285 & 2286: Fearing it to be a new devastating Federation weapon, a diplomatic incident involving James T. Kirk arises over the Empire's attempt to gain information about the Genesis Device .
- 2289: The Federation and the Klingon Empire hold a diplomatic meeting at Korvat colony, however without producing any substantial results.
- 2290: The Albino raids Klingon colonies but three battle cruisers commanded by -Kor, Kang, and Koloth fail to apprehend him. That same year, the sleeper ship IKS T'Ong, with standing orders to fire on any Federation vessels, is dispatched on a "crucial" longrange mission from which it would not return until 2365.
- 2292: By this year, the Romulans are considered "blood enemies" in the Klingon Empire.
- 2293: Khitomer Accords – The explosion of the Klingon moon Praxis causes an ecological disaster, disposing Chancellor Gorkon to pursue a full peace treaty with the Federation. Despite the subsequent assassination of Gorkon, his daughter and new Chancellor, Azetbur, participates at the Khitomer Conference, which leads to the Khitomer Accords establishing a lasting peace between the two powers.

c. Military Power

30,000 Klingon Birds of Prey

These ships are standard Klingon defense ships. All of them have invisibility veils. It has a phaser and 2 fragmenting balls. 10,000 are in use on Cruisers, 10,000 in Starships, and 10,000 in outer space.

500 Star Cruisers

These ships are the most powerful of the Klingon army. In terms of attack, it contains 1 large frontal fragmenter, 20 shredder guns and 15 light photon torpedoes, 4 heavy photon torpedoes. It also carries 20 birds of prey in it.

Federation vs Klingon Empire History

Human-Klingon history is riddled with conflicts among the United Earth/United Federation of Planets and the Klingon Empire courting again to the mid-twenty second century, following the primary touch throughout the Broken Bow Incident and previous to the advent of the Federation. These conflicts have been usually taken into consideration as "annoyances" with the aid of using the Empire. (ENT: "Broken Bow", "Judgment") With the Battle of the Binary Stars in 2256, open war broke out among the 2-super mega-celebrity international locations for the primary, and now no longer the last, time.

The Federation-Klingon War of 2267 turned into a short battle fought among the United Federation of Planets and the Klingon Empire in 2267. It turned into the end result of years of annoying build-up in a chilly situation, following the Federation-Klingon War of 2256-2257, however, turned into in the end inconclusive due to the fact the preventing turned into unexpectedly ended with the aid of using the Organians.

Shortly earlier than stardate 3198.4, ongoing negotiations among the 2 facets have been in hazard of breaking down, and the open war turned into turning into an unwelcome likelihood. Starfleet Command predicted that the Klingons might release a marvel assault when they issued an ultimatum traumatic that the Federation withdraw from all disputed areas alongside their mutual border, such as Donatu V, Sherman's Planet, Organia, the Archanis sector, and different territories. When the Federation refused the demands, the Klingons released a direct assault – even earlier than a legit assertion of turned into an issue. . When the Federation starship USS Enterprise obtained be aware of the assertion, it turned into ordered to the planet Organia, which occupied a strategic area in disputed space (now the front strains). Captain Kirk's orders have been to save you the Klingons from occupying the planet and the usage of it as an ahead base. At the time, the Organians have been believed to be a simple, pre-warp agrarian society. Kirk and his first officer Spock beamed down and provided the Organian Council of Elders help in protecting towards the approaching Klingon assault; perplexingly, the Organians refused. Mere mins later, the Klingons invaded, forcing the Enterprise farfar from the planet and leaving Kirk and Spock stranded at the surface. Klingon commander Kor proclaimed the planet a brand new territory of the Klingon Empire, with himself as army governor. Kirk and Spock disguised themselves as Organians to combo in and keep away from capture; ironically, Kor decided on Kirk (alias Baroner) as his liaison to the Organian population, unaware that he turned into coping with the enemy.

Kirk and Spock attempted to salary a heroic two-guy guerrilla towards the Klingons in an attempt to disrupt enemy operations and to encourage the Organians to riot towards their Klingon occupiers. However, to save you violence, council chief Ayelborne became Kirk and Spock over to Kor, revealing their proper identities. Kirk and Spock have been imprisoned, however a quick time later Ayelborne helped them escape, claiming that he needed to defend their safety. Ayelborne turned into indistinct on how he penetrated the Klingon stronghold and kept away from the guards there. When Kirk and Spock tried to invade Kor's headquarters to maintain the commander hostage, Kor welcomed Kirk, and Spock permitting them to recognize that the Federation fleet turned into on its manner and that the Klingon fleet turned into going to fulfill them. Kor stated the war might determine the final results of the Galaxy for the following 10,000 years, and confident each guys that the Klingons might win the war, however Spock countered that Kor could not are expecting the final results of the war and that there have been many possibilities. Just then Klingon Soldiers regarded to rescue Kor, whilst on the identical time the Enterprise lower back with the Federation fleet, and have been approximately to have interaction the Klingons in war whilst the Organians, now no longer trying anymore violence, found out themselves to be extraordinarily superior non-corporeal beings. They altered the perceptions of all Federation and Klingon ships, and soldiers, making it appear as though guns and devices have been unexpectedly too warm to touch. In this manner, they introduced approximately an abrupt cease to the strugglefare. Ayelborne regarded each the Federation Council and the Klingon High Council and introduced the unilateral imposition of the Treaty of Organia, which installed floor regulations for similar interplay among the 2 powers, and for the decision of the territorial disputes.
